

How to remove the Access 2007 security warning when opening Access Anaesthetics

When you open a database in Access 2007, you may see the following message.

Note that this is a different message (and solution) to that shown in Access 2002 - 2003.

To avoid this, add the database to the list of 'Trusted locations' by following the steps below.

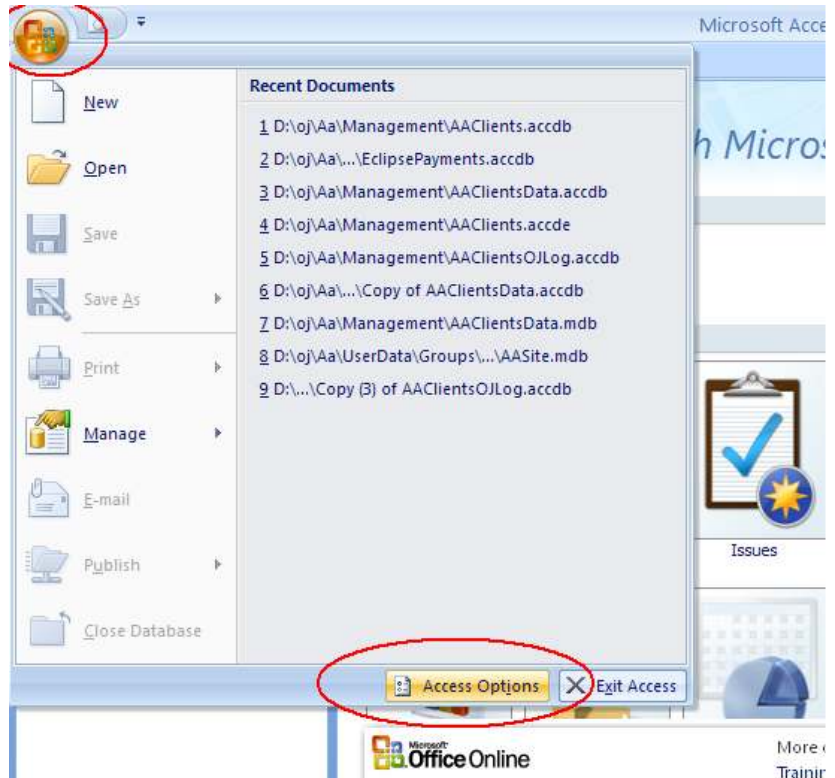

Start up Microsoft Access 2007 without opening a database.

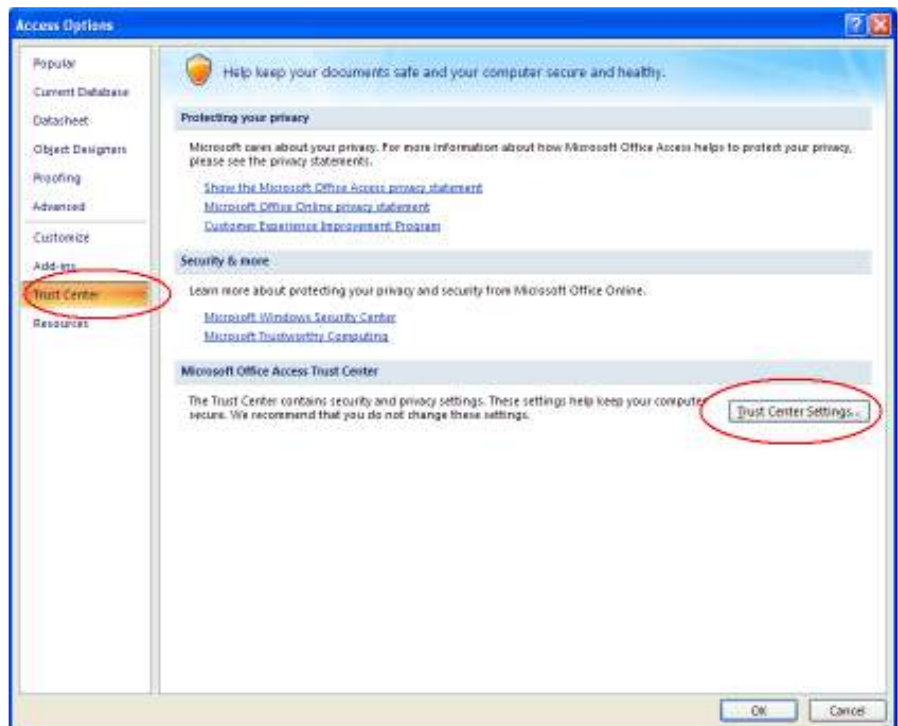

Click the button on the top left.

Then click the <Access Options> button on the bottom.

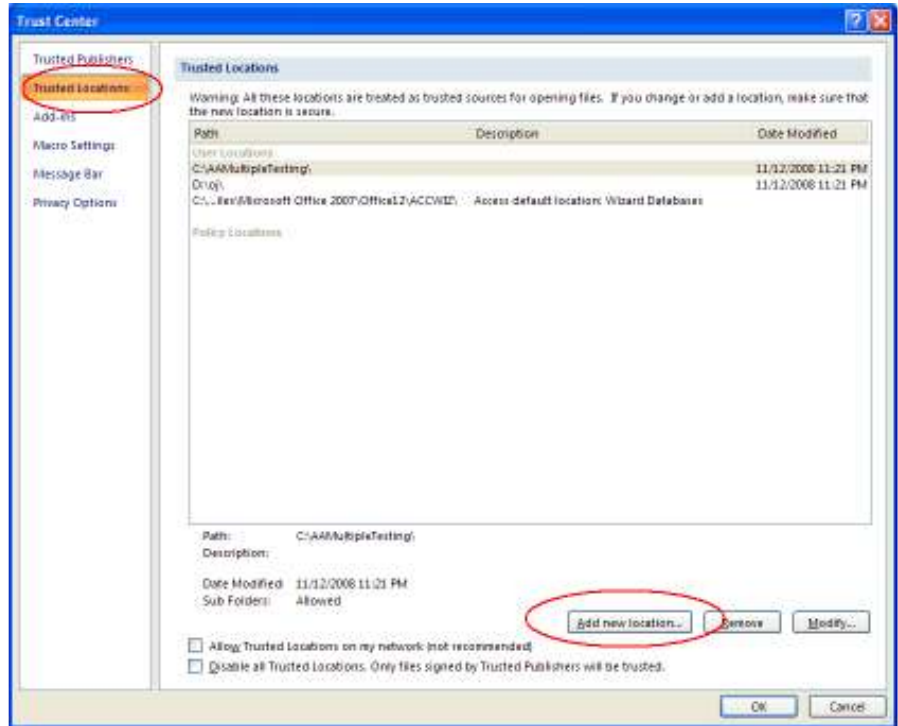

Click <Trust Centre>.

Click <Trust Centre Settings>.

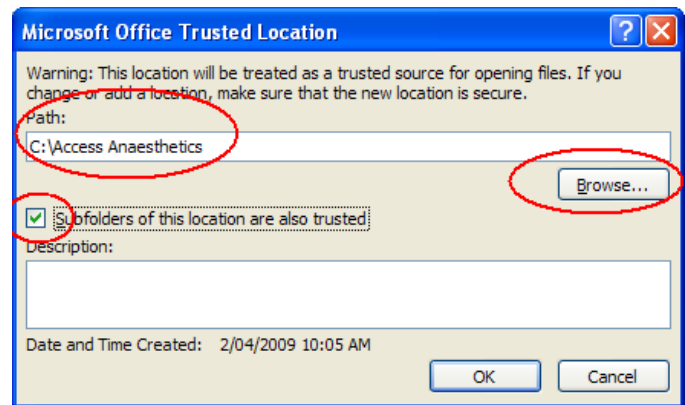

Click <Trusted Locations>.

Click <Add new location>.

Click <Browse> to select the C:\Access Anaesthetics folder.

Tick the 'Subfolders' checkbox.

The Access Anaesthetics folder will be added to the list of 'Trusted Locations'.

Close Access 2007 and open Access Anaesthetics in the normal way. You should no longer see the security warning.
